

BY CHANSTON & NORRMAN,
127 THAMES STREET.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JULY 9, 1851.

17.—We learned yesterday, from a reliable source, that it is the intention of Jenny Lind to return to Newport, after making her trip to Canada and the Springs; and that she will remain here about two weeks. We know that she applied to the Germania Musical Society, after her visit to Newport, to know if she could have their services as an Orchestra, in case she gave a Concert here,—and she was informed that she could. We think, therefore, that the probability is she will return here about the middle of August, and remain for two weeks; and no doubt she will give one or more Concerts while here. She would be sore of large audiences, as many as any building which we have could hold,—for the town would then be full of visitors, and these, with many of our own citizens, and such as would come from Providence and other places in the vicinity, would ensure crowded audiences for at least two or three Concerts. Should she come here, the inducement for her to give Concerts would be strong, because she could have the assistance of those accomplished musicians, the Germanians, who are marked favorites with her, and to whom she has given the highest testimonials of appreciation.

18.—Catharine Hayes, the celebrated Irish Swan, who bids fair to create as much sensation in the country as Jenny Lind has, will arrive on our shores about the middle of August; a gentleman who is informed on the subject, told us yesterday that it was the intention of some of her friends to bring her immediately to Newport, where she will reside until about the first of September, when she will commence her Concerts in New York.

19.—The anniversary of our National Independence was celebrated in a becoming manner at the South School Academy in Jamestown. The house had been previously decorated with green wreaths and flowers in great profusion, and the pupils furnished an abundance of cake, &c., together with lemonade, cool as from the living fountain.

Miss Bartlett, the amiable and accomplished teacher, was most assiduous in her endeavors to make the children happy, while those of more advanced age seemed as fully to appreciate the kindness of this young lady in thus endeavoring to add one day of pleasure to the youthful class.

Many invited guests were present, and among the number, Mr. C. L. Daboll, who favored the school and assembly with a well-written and instructive Oration. He apologized to the audience for attempting to even imitate the orators who had for three-fourths of a century descended upon the rich legacy our fathers left us, the fruits of the Declaration of Independence, and said that as this was his first attempt at public speaking, he might easily promise it would be the last. At a late hour in the afternoon the exercises were closed, and all repaired to their homes, happy in the enjoyment of the seventy-fifth annual return of our nation's birthday.

AMANEUSIS.

CATHARINE HAYES.—The English and French papers come to us with highly flattering notices of this lovely contralto, whose concerts are attracting more attention just now, than any other musical affairs. The London Globe in noticing a recent concert, says: "Miss Hayes's voice, from its extraordinary compass, admits of her accomplishing all kinds of singing with equal ease. The song from the 'Prophet' was really a splendid effort, and produced an immense sensation. Miss Hayes's soprano and contralto notes were heard to singular advantage, and the manner in which she took the highest note and descended to the lowest, without the least effort, was certainly extraordinary. The beauty of her middle tones, also, was evidenced in this song. The famous 'Ah! non giunge' from 'Sonnambula' was a more dazzling and striking feat of vocalization. Here Miss Hayes seemed to rise in excess of fortune, and in passages of great difficulty, again without the slightest strain on her voice. Nothing could surpass the facility of her delivery and the rapidity with which the ascending and descending scales were taken. The fair contralto was enthusiastically applauded in both her songs, and was recalled a fourth time."

CONGRATULATIONS.—The Rev. Dr. Pay Bishop elect of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the ancient colonies of the western coast of Africa, will be consecrated in Alexandria, Va., on Friday, the 11th inst.

20.—The following is a description of the dresses worn at the Queen's late Fancy Ball, by the Queen, Prince Albert and by the American Minister and suite:—

The Queen wore le grand habit de cour of the fashion of the Court of Louis XIVth—a dress made of rich gray-watered silk, trimmed with gold and silver lace, and ornamented with bows or rose-colored ribbons, fastened by bows of diamonds. The front of the dress was open, and the under-skirt was made of cloth of gold, embroidered in a shawl pattern in silver, scalloped and trimmed with silver fringe. The gloves and shoes were embroidered alternately with roses and fleurs de lis in gold. On the front of the dress four large pearl-shaped emeralds, of immense value, were observed. On the top of Her Majesty's head was placed a small diamond crown; at the side of the head, a large emerald set in diamonds, with pearl loops, and the hair behind was plaited with pearls.

His Royal Highness Prince Albert was dressed in a coat of rich orange satin, brocaded with gold and with a green ermine—the sleeves turned up with crimson velvet, embroidered in gold and silver, with a pink satin capelet upon the shoulder; a baldric of gold lace, embroidered with silver and edged with a fringe of pink and silver bullion, carried the sword. The breeches were of crimson velvet, with pink satin bows and gold lace; stockings of lavender silk; hat of white silk and gold fringe. The waist was trimmed with gold, with white ostrich feathers round it.

His Excellency, the American Minister, Hon. Abbott Lawrence, appeared as John Winthrop, Governor of Connecticut from 1657 to 1678. He wore a very handsome dress of dark blue velvet, richly trimmed with gold lace, a maroon colored cloak, and golden baldric, with a sword—high boots of russet leather, edged with point lace—black felt hat with white cockade and a plume. This costume was admirably suited to the fine and portly figure of the Minister, who looked remarkably well in it.

The dress of Mrs. Abbott Lawrence was very becoming. She represented Anna Dudley, wife of Governor Bradstreet. A train of brown satin was lined with pomona green satin, fastened back with scarlet ribbons, pearls, diamonds, and emeralds; the body and sleeves were fastened in spaces with emeralds, diamonds and pearls, over a fine lawn chemise; the girdle was of rubies and pearls; petticoat of rich scarlet damask, with gold lace. On each side of a leather trimming of a rare American bird; on the head, emeralds, diamonds and gold acorns, over which was worn a long scarf veil, fastened on one side with a diamond egle.

Col. T. B. Lawrence represented Cecil, Lord Baltimore, Governor of the Colony of Maryland at the time of the Restoration. He wore a doublet and trunk of crimson velvet, trimmed with gold lace and opened with white satin; mantle and baldric of imperial blue velvet heavily embroidered in gold, collar, wrist and knee ruffles of real point lace; "Cavalier" hat with scarlet plume, the cockade looped up with diamonds. This was a very rich dress, and had, as may be supposed a magnificent effect.

Mr. James Lawrence appeared as Gov. Nichols, the first English Governor of New York, appointed by Charles the Second in 1664. The dress displayed great judgment, and from the resource on the shoe to the minutest ribbon was accurate.

Mr. Bancroft Davis personified William Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, selecting, of course, the earliest years of that great man. The breeches and coat were of dark violet velvet trimmed with blue; dark silk stockings with high heeled russet shoes; scarlet baldric, and a high crowned hat with feathers. His dress was perfectly quiet, but nevertheless was admirably chosen.

Col. Van Allen presented himself in the Royal presence as Gov. Petrus Stuyvesant of New-Netherlands, and the splendid materials of which the costume was composed, green velvet and gold, with a baldric of cloth of gold, created no ordinary amount of attention. The mantle of crimson velvet was heavily embroidered in gold, worked in a pattern of great beauty; the wrist and knee ruffles were of costly lace, and the sword, in a scabbard of crimson velvet, was relieved with burnished gold.

Hon. Aebel Smith, formerly Texan Minister at this Court, appeared as a Spanish Grandee, in a very elegant Court costume of the times. It was considered essentially necessary to pay great attention (from the period selected for this ball) to the hair; ladies then cherished hair-dressers, and gentlemen were hairy, and your countrymen did not omit due deference to the choice of their wigs, and which addition, I assure you, so materially altered some people that it was a matter of no ordinary difficulty to recognize them.

Arrival of the Canada.

Haltier Telegraph Office.

Monday, July 7th, 5 A. M.

The British mail steamer Canada, Capt. Lang, arrived from Liverpool this morning at 20 minutes past 2 o'clock, taking our good citizens, official getty, and newsmongers very much by surprise. She has 43 passengers, of which 40 were for Boston, and a large freight. No American steamer had arrived at Liverpool during the week preceding the sailing of the Canada.

The Washington arrived at Covea on the morning of the 27th. Advice from India by telegraph via Marseilles, report no news of importance. The sales of Cotton were brisk at reduced prices. A considerable improvement is reported in English Home securities.

France.—Monday, being the anniversary of the insurrection of June, 1849 religious ceremonies were performed in all the churches in Paris in commemoration of the numerous victims of that sanguinary conflict. The churches were well attended.

The commission to revise the Constitution has adopted, by 9 votes against 5, the following proposition: The Legislative Assembly, taking into consideration the 111th article of the Constitution, expresses a desire for the revision of the Constitution, conformable to just article.

The Bank of France has announced a dividend of 55 francs per share for the first half year of 1851.

Portugal continues tranquil. The electoral law was decreed on the 18th, with a few alterations.

A BEAUTIFUL THOUGHT.—The great Leveller.—The sea is the largest of all cemeteries, and its slumberers sleep without monuments. All other graveyards, in all other lands, some symbol of distinction between the great and small, the rich and poor; but in that ocean cemetery the king and the clown, the prince and the peasant, are alike distinguished. The same waves roll over all—the same requiem by the minstrelsy of the ocean is sung to their honor. Over their remains the same storm beats, and the same sun shines, and there unmarked the weak and the powerful, the plumed and the unadorned, will sleep on until awakened by the same trumpet when the sea shall give up its dead.

ILLNESS OF MR. COOPER.—We learn that Mr. Fenimore Cooper is so ill, that he cannot leave his bed. He is lying in bed, surrounded by his family, and was summoned to him on Saturday last, and in the evening of that day he received a sacrament preparatory to dissolution. He has been unwell for some time, and went home from New York about five weeks since in hope of recovering his strength.—Tribune.

21.—The Atlantic will leave Liverpool for New York on the 23d July; we are informed.

Lay it down as a Rule, never to smile, nor in any way show approval or merriment, at any trait in a child which you should not wish to grow with its growth, and strengthen with its strength.

THE LATE BIGAMY CASE AT BROOKLYN.—The first husband (Warus) having again disappeared, and not appearing to press the charge against his wife, the Justice discharged her from her recognizance believing that she had married the second time in the conscientious belief that her first husband was dead. She has returned to Rutherford, her second husband.

At the commencement of Shortleiff College, Illinois, on the 28th ult., the honorary degree of D. D. was conferred on Rev. David Benedict of Rhode Island, and of L. L. D. on Hon. Edward Bates of St. Louis.

Ohio.—The Whigs of Ohio have nominated the Hon. Samuel F. Vinton, as their candidate for Governor. This gentleman, at the end of the last session, retired from Congress, after having served in the popular branch for near a quarter of a century. He was regarded as the most able man in the House. He has earned a national reputation by his talent and industry, and we have no doubt that the people of Ohio will place him, by a triumphant majority, in the Governorial chair. We regard the nomination of Mr. Vinton in every respect as a good one.

A lady in Northampton, missing several yards of nice lace, which had been spread upon the grass, found it the next morning, nicely adjusted to a Robin's nest on which the Red-Breast, no doubt had finally hoped to rear her young.

Some western villain has concocted the following "con." Why are certain ladies of the present day like the "forlorn hope" of a besieging army? Because they are about to throw themselves into the breach.

Miss FLYNN.—The New Yorker denies that the Mrs. Flynn who was killed at St. Louis, was the wife of Thomas Flynn, the actor. That lady is now in New York and will probably appear soon on the stage.
